

THE PROBLEM

Your platform costs more every year — and every change still needs a developer.

- Costs more every year, delivers less. Legacy suites stack license, hosting, patching and dev maintenance — margin bleeds while the roadmap stalls.
- Every change needs a developer. Marketers can't ship a campaign or catalog change without an engineering ticket — launches slip.
- Locked into your agency for everything. Brittle custom code makes every change a slow, expensive change request — you don't own your stack.

A replatform feels too risky and too expensive — so you stay stuck on a platform you've outgrown.

EYEMAGINE × BIGCOMMERCE · COMMERCE

Replatform to BigCommerce — migration & build included.

EYEMAGINE rebuilds your store on BigCommerce and handles the move end-to-end — with migration and build covered for qualifying merchants, so you modernize commerce without the capital project.

- Full migration, nothing lost
Catalog, customers, orders, content, and SEO / redirects carried over cleanly.
- Complete BigCommerce build
Storefront design, theme, checkout, and the integrations your business runs on.
- Feedo product feeds
Google, Amazon, Meta and comparison engines, managed from one place.
- Systems connected
ERP, OMS, 3PL, ESP and payments wired into one commerce backbone.
- Built to grow
Performance, conversion and merchandising optimization after launch, not just at it.
